

HOME

WILL HUMANITY WAKE UP...IN TIME?

Or is it that we just can't handle the truth?

NOTE: As I also posted today, in the article about volcanoes and earthquakes, it's pointless to keep updating, validating and corroborating Meier's specific and obviously, uniquely, impeccably, prophetically accurate information. It isn't pointless, however, for you to read, research, confirm and - in a completely non-religious way - share it with others who may also wish to know about the most important, and most suppressed, story in human history. You may wish to review the information in The Meier Contacts DVD, from 2004, to see how well humanity has heeded the warnings contained within it even then.

Updated: April 16, 2010

Michael Horn

Anyone who reads this article all the way through should comprehend that they are witnesses to the most historic event, i.e.

evidence of the single most prophetically accurate source of information in human history. The seventh and final prophet (a non-religious term used to describe someone who fits the "job description" by accurately foretelling specific events) in the Nokodemion lineage has presented information, some provided to him by his Plejaren mentors, some authored by himself, through his own unique efforts and abilities. The intention is not to impress, recruit, sway or coerce the human beings of the Earth into any beliefs but only to provide them with the most truthful information in order to direct them to the teaching of life, the teaching of truth and the teaching of spirit. And this is meant for them, for us, in order to assist us to assure our own future survival and evolution. Hopefully, we will demonstrate that we are wise enough to do so...although our track record is pretty abysmal so far.

There are now so many new developments and discoveries occurring and corroborating Meier's information that they are now being posted at the end of this article...with the exception of the following article. The reason for this is that the fraudulent attack on the realities, and consequences, of climate change and global warming, by the heavily financed corporations with the greatest investment in wringing out every last dollar (from a world that is in some cases also literally about to be submerged) is a continuing crime against humanity. And the irrefutable fact that Meier has long since, specifically, warned about the myriad of environmental problems that humanity has largely created for itself is now so well documented that only the most stubbornly, willfully blind of human beings can any longer deny it. The question still remains about what the rest of us can and will do to help prevent that which is still preventable.

So please review this most recent scientific information and compare it with Meier's and the Plejaren's (emphasis added below):

Sea Level Could Rise from 0.75 to 1.9 Meters This Century

ScienceDaily (Dec. 8, 2009) — A new scientific study warns that sea level could rise much faster than previously expected. By the year 2100, global sea level could rise between 75 and 190 centimetres, according to a paper published in the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences.

• MEIER: More information on "unstoppable" changes, global warming and rising sea levels from 2007:

"The climate warms ever faster, whereby the snowfall is also absent ever more frequently in the deeper sites, while the Earth's polar ice masses, as well as the glaciers melt ever faster, which leads to this: that by the year 2100, in some cases, the water of the seas will rise up to 160 centimeters (5'3"). Forceful natural changes have become unstoppable..." (Originally from Ptaah, November 18, 2006.)

WILL HUMANITY WAKE UP...IN TIME?

The following is a compilation of recently published news and information that corresponds with, and corroborates, more of Billy Meier's specific, scientific and world event related information, which is referred to as prophetically accurate information, since its publication preceded so-called "official" discovery, knowledge, etc., often by years and even decades.

Because of Meier's unparalleled accuracy since 1951, one can reasonably conclude that many long foretold, unimaginably devastating events draw closer, unless humanity will finally wake up and take notice before it's too late.

The fact is that there has been a genuine prophet in our midst, meaning someone who accurately foretells specific events, discoveries, etc., which has been effectively suppressed by the power hungry, greedy, materialistic forces of government, military, media and...religion. And it is this campaign against, and disinformation about, the truth of Meier's contacts and information that is to the detriment of all humankind.

And, like the six genuine prophets before him, Billy Meier comes on behalf of no "God in heaven", religion, cult, sect or belief system but only on behalf of the teaching of spirit, the teaching of life and the teaching of truth. This teaching originates with the Creation, the Universal Consciousness that is the source of all life, of all that exists. It is an impersonal consciousness and power that has never had a "chosen people", "only begotten son", or "solitary prophet" and has never wanted any church or religion to be established, nor to have human beings to cower in guilt and fear, nor to go to war or slay one another, as has been encouraged by almost every manmade religion for millennia.

Through these transcripts we get a glimpse of the unique experiences afforded to, and immense knowledge gained by, this one earthman as a result of his association with the extraterrestrial Plejaren. One can't help but laugh at the contrast between this enormous body of magnificent, stunningly accurate information and the pathetic, shallow ramblings of various channels and so-called "UFO contactees" with their puerile, imaginary tales.

While long by necessity, the following compilation represents only a fraction of the prophetically accurate, scientific information published by Meier. And while we have continued to make such corroboration of Meier's unique, impeccably accurate track record available for several years, the know-it-alls in the scientific community – and especially in the so-called "UFO community" – also have unique culpability in ignoring, suppressing, ridiculing, dismissing, etc. Meier and his abundant, still irreproducible physical and informational evidence.

Still, even in the face of volumes of ever-increasing corroboration of Meier's prophetically accurate information, the know-it-alls and skeptics will say, "Anybody could have said that.” The problem, of course for any thinking person, is that nobody ever did say any of “it”, let alone all of it, and certainly not a one of the genius skeptics ever did, as will be the case with the information contained within this article, as well as ones that will surely follow.

This constitutes a sad, but unfortunately predictable, situation ongoing since the Meier case first came to public attention, as far back as 1951. It should be mentioned that part of the purpose of Meier’s publishing volumes of such information, for several decades, was to establish credibility through a foundation of impeccably accurate information, so as to encourage humanity to deign to look at the warnings – some first written thousands of years ago – in order to recognize, and alter, the dead end course on which we find ourselves... today.

While Meier himself has never given up hope that humanity would awaken and learn the lessons necessary for us to avoid the otherwise devastating horrors – which may then last for centuries – it now becomes less likely that we will. And, should that be the case, while we have no one to blame but ourselves, it will be the generations yet to come who will truly revile us for the way we abdicated all of our own self-responsibility in exchange for a bad mix of politics, religion and equally mind-numbing, ever-present entertainment.

Special thanks go to Dyson Devine and Vivienne Legg, Zhila Sajadi, John Krieger, James Moore (www.futureofmankind.com), Randy Arena, Zohan, and many others who participate on the FIGU forum (<http://forum.figu.org/cgi-bin/us/discus.cgi>), for their translations for finding and/or posting of information.

Please note that some outside links may expire over time.

Michael Horn
July 2009

RECENT CORROBORATION OF MEIER’S INFORMATION

· MEIER: Regarding environmental refugees, as foretold in July 2008:

The mass of humans, which flees as a consequence of all the evil and catastrophes caused by climatic and industrial factors – who are truly environmental refugees and must also be so named – climbs to over 35 million in the next few years.

Yet the calculation applies only for the next few years because through the incessant population increase, which must be called criminal, the number further climbs so that in only 45 to 50 more years the Earth, all countries and humanity, will be confronted with 200 million environmental refugees.

CORROBORATED:

Climate change may displace up to 200 million

(CNN) – “A new kind of refugee is on the rise. And by 2050, there could be as many as 200 million of them...”

Climate Change Seen as Threat to U.S. Security

By JOHN M. BRODER

Published: August 8, 2009

WASHINGTON — The changing global climate will pose profound strategic challenges to the United States in coming decades, raising the prospect of military intervention to deal with the effects of violent storms, drought, mass migration and pandemics, military and intelligence analysts say.

· MEIER: Regarding melting of glaciers from 1964:

Glaciers melt away worldwide just as do the masses of ice of the Arctic and Antarctic.

The world's climate rapidly warms which leads to monstrous revolutions in the climate which bring with them great waves of heat and cold, blasts of fire as well as droughts, floods, snowstorms and hailstorms.

· MEIER: More information on "unstoppable" changes, global warming and rising sea levels from 2007:

"The climate warms ever faster, whereby the snowfall is also absent ever more frequently in the deeper sites, while the Earth's polar ice masses, as well as the glaciers melt ever faster, which leads to this: that by the year 2100, in some cases, the water of the seas will rise up to 160 centimeters (5'3"). Forceful natural changes have become unstoppable..."

· MEIER: And more about rising sea levels and resulting refugees:

It is not only the climbing sea level, as a consequence of the melting poles and glaciers, which again and again drives entire groups of humans and even entire peoples to seek refuge – especially those who live on the oceans' islands which are increasingly, and ultimately completely, flooded by the climbing water – but it is likewise also the increasing demolition of the oceans' shores, and the loss of ground.

CORROBORATED:

Swiss glaciers melting faster than ever before: study

ZURICH (Reuters) - Switzerland's glaciers shrank by 12 percent over the past decade, melting at their fastest rate due to rising temperatures and lighter snowfalls, a study by the Swiss university ETH showed Monday.

Study finds more evidence rapid Arctic warming isn't natural

By Renee Schoof | McClatchy Newspapers

WASHINGTON — The Arctic was cooling for 1,900 years because of a natural change in Earth's orbit until greenhouse gas accumulation from the use of fossil fuels reversed the trend in recent decades, according to a study published Friday in Science magazine.

Arctic reverses trend, is warmest in two millennia

By RANDOLPH E. SCHMID (AP) – 3 days ago

WASHINGTON — The Arctic is warmer than it's been in 2,000 years, even though it should be cooling because of changes in the Earth's orbit that cause the region to get less direct sunlight. Indeed, the Arctic had been cooling for nearly two millennia before reversing course in the last century and starting to warm as human activities added greenhouse gases to the atmosphere.

· MEIER: Regarding loss of magnetic sense in man and animals, from Contact Report 249, 1994:

Ptaah:

...For decades now he has been under the steady, greatly enhanced influence of artificial electro-magnetic waves, or rather oscillations, which greatly exceed the normal, planet-related measurements and are generated by Man's own thoughtlessness. As a consequence, he is now, and has been for some time, incapable of applying and relying on his magnetic sense. Hence, he can no longer recognize, grasp and perceive many items and events in nature in the manner that animals are able to, although their magnetic sense is increasingly harmed also through the irresponsibility of mankind on Earth. Birds and animals, for instance, are guided by their magnetic sense during their annual migrations or flights from one region to another when they frequently traverse many thousands of kilometers.

The longer they are exposed to this electromagnetism, the more the magnetic sense of orientation of these migratory animals and birds is upset and causes their death for many of them. Whales, for instance, lose their orientation and become stranded somewhere on river banks or in the rivers, where they die a terrible death; a situation that is increasingly becoming more common even for other aquatic wildlife forms. With increasing frequency, herds of many wild animals are losing their sense of orientation because their magnetic sense is upset. This causes them to flee and plunge, panic-stricken, over cliffs and crevasses to their death, etc. Thunderstorms, earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, as well as other great calamities of nature's elements also produce increased magnetic waves or oscillations. Animals and birds sense these increased electro-magnetic oscillations and behave accordingly. They flee or seek sanctuary elsewhere.

CORROBORATED:

- 55 whales die after mass beaching in South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, May 31 (Reuters) - At least 55 whales stranded on a beach near Cape Town were put down or died after rescue teams failed to return them to the ocean, a sea rescue institute said on Sunday. Scientists shot 42 of the false killer whales on Saturday and 13 others perished, possibly from internal injuries, at Kommetjie Beach, the National Sea Rescue Institute (NSRI) said...

· MEIER: Regarding new scientific discoveries of countless new species of undersea life, from Contact Report 219, June 16, 1987:

Quetzal:

96. That is also unknown to us, yet we estimate that in the deep sea of the terrestrial oceans there still exist some 12,000,000 undiscovered types and kinds of living creatures, whereby the number of the individual kinds, each according to its size, indeed goes into umpteen thousands, hundreds of thousands or into millions with the biggest and big living creatures; and with the small, into umpteen millions, billions, trillions, and quadrillions; to the innumerable with the smallest and tiniest forms of life...

· MEIER: And more from Contact Report 218, May 30, 1987, regarding mysterious creatures and conditions that are unknown to terrestrial scientists:

Billy:

Also, in three different locations, three single gigantic forms of life emerge, which I initially designate as deep sea whales, however Quetzal will instruct me that it deals with so-called Sleeping Sharks, the existence of which is not yet known to terrestrial humans.

The smallest of the three I estimate to be some 10 metres long, while the two others are some two to three metres longer.

But there are, among many other very interesting things, also the 'black chimneys' [a.k.a. 'black smokers'], of which Quetzal had once spoken, and he said that they are the essential origin of the later forms of life on the Earth, in water, air and land, along with inclusions from outer space through comets, meteors and asteroids.

In these 'black chimneys' from which pitch black swathes - which are impregnated with sulphur and various materials - rise up, emerged early branches of bacteria which, as they rose out of the chimneys, were released and began the evolutionary work of life.

But that, says Quetzal, is all still unknown to the terrestrial scientists.

CORROBORATED:

What lurks in the depths of the ocean?

“...The Census for Marine Life, a global network of researchers in more than 80 nations, estimates that about 230,000 species of marine animals have been described, and that there could be a total of between 500,000 and 10 million species in the sea.”

· MEIER: Dangers of nanoparticles from 443rd Contact, February 17, 2007:

Billy:

But now, once more, a question regarding micro-fibers.

In regard to that, you once said that these are just as dangerous for humans as the nano-particle, because, through micro-fibers, substances damaging to the health likewise reach the human's lungs.

Which substances are they then?

You have indeed already said something about that in a private conversation, yet it would be important that it is also recorded in writing.

Therefore the official question.

Ptaah: In their dry state, nano-particles separate from the micro-fibers which are breathed in by humans and which burden the respiratory organs, especially the respiratory tract and the lungs, whereby asthma can be caused, as however also cancer of the respiratory tract and lungs...”

CORROBORATED:

-

Are Nanotech Consumer Products Safe?

June 2009:

“Animal studies, including one with rats at the University of Rochester, have shown that some nanoparticles can cross the blood-brain barrier, which protects the brain from toxins in the bloodstream. And inhaled nanoparticles have also harmed the lungs of animal test subjects...”

· MEIER: Connections between earthquakes, and mining, damming of waters, oil/gas extraction, etc. from Contact 45, February 25, 1975:

Semjase:

56. A mining of ore or of other minerals on a planet or any other star, we only do in extreme cases of emergency, because this process equates to a destruction of a planet.

57. A planet or other star is never allowed to be exploited in this manner, as this occurs on the Earth.

58. What Earth Man is doing in this regard equates to a destruction of the planet.

59. The first evil effects of this destruction on the Earth are already noticeable for several decades, while the present time already prepares the labor pains for the destruction.

60. That is to be understood in this way, that Earth Man exploits his planet and robs it of the fundamental life energy, in that he robs from it the underground oil and gas and the most diverse ores.

61. This leads to the fact that the Earth suffers shifts within, which leads to enormous volcanic eruptions and earthquakes, because slowly the Earth collapses from within.

62. But the same process is also created by the erection of dams and similar structures.

CORROBORATED:

Dam could have triggered Chinese earthquake, say scientists

“Pressure from a large dam could have helped to trigger the earthquake which killed up to 90,000 people in south-west China last year, some scientists have claimed.

Chinese and overseas experts suggested that the weight of waters in the Zipingpu Dam in Sichuan may have affected the timing or scale of the 7.9 magnitude quake. The dam stands just 3.5 miles from the epicentre...”

SMU to study recent quakes; drilling questioned

12:58 AM CDT on Thursday, June 11, 2009

By JASON WHITELEY / WFAA-TV

DALLAS – In the frenzied pace of everyday life, few North Texans think much about what happens beneath their feet. However, the recent earthquakes in the Cleburne area have changed that for many.

There were two more earthquakes Tuesday. The first measured 2.4 and the second, which happened an hour later, was 2.1.

More earthquakes reported in central Oklahoma

By Robert Medley Staff Writer

Published: August 28, 2009

More rumblings underground, all in the same location, have been reported as earthquakes by the Oklahoma Geological Survey in Norman, bringing the total to 9 separate earthquakes in the last 24 hours in the state, the U.S. Geological Survey reports today.

(NOTE: Like Texas, Oklahoma has been a large oil and gas drilling state. MH)

Climate change could cause earthquakes and volcanic eruptions, scientists say

Canadian Press

By: DENNIS BUECKERT

July 4, 2006

OTTAWA (CP) - So the warnings of harsher heat waves, stronger hurricanes and rising seas fail to impress. How about volcanic eruptions in the Arctic, or a tsunami off the coast of Newfoundland?

The latest scientific discipline to enter the fray over global warming is geology.

North Wales shaken by earthquake

Contributing writer: "A few days ago there was a Earthquake in Wales (UK). To my knowledge Wales is not situated on a fault line. But Wales has miles of abandoned coal mines. In the past Wales was a major coaling industry.

Possibly this Earthquake was a result of a collapse within the coal mines or other disturbance caused by the extraction of past coaling in Wales."

· MEIER: Regarding discoveries on Mars, from 1976:

Meier - Well - then your earlier answer does not exclude (the possibility) that any other life of florid or faunic form can exist there, or even does exist. You then told (me) expressly, that life does not exist there, while logically you had addressed only the human planetary life. What do you think now, Will the Americans discover low forms of life with their sonde sent to Mars?

Semjase - 115/They will meet with surprises in many respects, as in the fact that Mars has much more water than earthly science had assumed until now.

116/ But there are also surprises in the character of the ground and the nature of the microworld.

117/The florid and faunic world can absolutely be found on Mars when the scientific instruments of these sondes are well enough to evaluate and store the concerned results...

CORROBORATED:

Evidence Found for Ancient Mars Lake

JUNE 18, 2009

"Several studies in recent years have claimed evidence for shorelines and other features that suggest ancient lakes on Mars. Firm evidence has remained elusive.

Now a University of Colorado at Boulder research team claims 'the first definitive evidence of shorelines on Mars' in a statement released today..."

And time will tell if the account given by the Plejaren about the Lyra system, destruction from the Destroyer Comet, and the formation of the so-called "Eye of God" is the accurate, factual account about which astronomers now have begun to theorize:

Spitzer Sees Dusty Aftermath of Pluto-Sized Collision

"Astronomers say a dusty disc swirling around the nearby star Vega is bigger than earlier thought. It was probably caused by collisions of objects, perhaps as big as the planet Pluto, up to 2,000 kilometers (about 1,200 miles) in diameter..."

· MEIER: Regarding the coming "suicide industry" from...1958:

66.) Suicides will be ever more numerous, as will also euthanasia, because criminals addicted to business will draw monetary use out of it, whereby it will come to death tourism in countries in which help rendered the dying, in murder and suicide, will be allowed; the death-helper will be a dealer without illusions, and he will sell his suicide poison to everybody who wants to have it.

CORROBORATED:

British Conductor and Wife Commit Suicide Together

14-Jul-2009

Written by: Lindsey Weedston

Couple traveled to Swiss clinic to die with dignity.

· MEIER: Regarding Darwin's hitherto unknown Tibetan Buddhism connection and plagiarism, from 2007:

Billy ... - Oh well, I have here yet another question, because someone has asked me for an answer in the bulletin regarding on what Charles Darwin, in 1859, has constructed his theory of evolution, that the human is descended from apes.

I learned from your father, Sfath, that Darwin falsified an ape skeleton in order to demonstrate his theory, whereby however his assertion, being that the human descended from apes, did not just grow out of his own rubbish.

In reality, as Sfath explained, Charles Darwin was linked with Tibetan Buddhists, who told him of the Tibetan legend, according to which all humans descend from eight different branches of apes.

Can I convey my answer in this way?

Ptaah Naturally, because what my father explained to you corresponds with the truth.

Darwin was a human who craved renown, and did everything illicitly and dishonestly to greatly build up his image.

The Darwinian teaching of evolution in regard to the Earth humans, that they originally arose from the apes, is truly not based on his own thought processes or from his own research, rather on a Tibetan legend that all humans descended from eight different branches of apes.

Darwin put the legend to use, whereby he suitably filed certain bones of an ape skeleton in order to substantiate and provide a line of evidence for his deceit, and presented the whole thing to the scientific body of the day.

CORROBORATED:

Charles Darwin 'inspired by Tibetan Buddhism'

Charles Darwin could have been a Buddhist, according to a scholar who has identified "amazing" similarities between his writing and Tibetan philosophy.

By Matthew Moore

Published: 9:51AM GMT 16 Feb 2009

Passages in which the Victorian scientist addressed compassion and morality were "virtually the same, or exactly the same" as Tibetan Buddhist texts, according to Professor Paul Ekman, a psychologist who studies the links between human emotions and facial expression.

Prof Ekman said that his friend the Dalai Lama had also remarked on the parallels. He said: "When I read the Dalai Lama some of Darwin's passages he said: 'I will now call myself a Darwinian'."

· MEIER: Regarding prostitution being in taxed, from 1958:

22.) Prostitution is already on the way worldwide to becoming a public and officially sanctioned enterprise which cannot be curbed and which will be accountable to the state for taxes, as in this regard, ethics will no longer have a role to play, in the same way that neither will propriety and health.

CORROBORATED:

LEGAL AND ILLEGAL: Tax on prostitution proposed

Senator estimates $2 million in revenue

Mar. 25, 2009

By BRENDAN RILEY

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CARSON CITY -- A state lawmaker has proposed a $5 tax on acts of prostitution in Nevada, where brothels operate legally in some areas, and a counseling agency for sex workers that would be funded by part of the tax revenue.

"We're desperate to find money for essential government services, so I will go anywhere to do that," Senate Taxation Chairman Bob Coffin, D-Las Vegas, said Tuesday in discussing his plan.

UPDATE SECTION

UPDATE: September 7, 2009

· MEIER: THE EASTER ISLAND MYSTERY EXPLAINED!

74. In those days Easter Island was thickly covered with forests of palm trees, which were massively timbered off to the point of extinction.

75. The palm-wood was used for the construction of the primitive machines about which Semjase reported to you.

76. So the heads, which were hewn, respectively, chiseled, out of the volcanic rock, were heaved onto, and transported with, these machines which were prepared from palm-wood.

77. When the colossal heads, created by stonecutters, were ready, then round tree trunks - which, with lianas, and so forth, were made into a tree trunk sledge - were shoved under the figures.

78. These triangularly-prepared tree-trunk sledges were not, however, set on the ground, rather on further palm trunks, which were likewise triangular and were arranged in a long row up to the destination.

79. In this way the colossal heads could be transported over great distances as if on tracks.

80. And thereby the figures of heads, weighing many tonnes, could slide properly on the decorticated palm wood trunks, which were smeared with things containing fat as well as also continuously being wetted with water.

81. The tree-trunk sledges' motivating power was a great number of humans, who, in fits and starts, shoved these sledges with wooden poles, while others pulled the whole thing forward with long ropes made from lianas, and so forth.

82. In order to then erect the heavy objects on the prefabricated platforms, volcanic rock was used to build ramps onto which the giant heads were shoved, whereupon, then the tree-trunk sledge, with the stone colossus laid on it, was lifted up centimetre by centimetre with human power and was progressively supported underneath with volcanic rocks.

83. Additionally, initially small, and then ever bigger palm-wood poles were shoved under the sledges from behind and thereby everything was also kept from being able to fall back.

84. Further, fastened to the topmost part of the stone head, were more ropes, which extended forward and were lain on by humans, whereby, collectively, a crane process resulted.

85. These were the machines about which Semjase reported.

Giant statues reveal red hat secrets: study

Mon Sep 7, 1:41 pm ET

LONDON (AFP) – British archaeologists said Monday they believe they have solved the ancient mystery of how the giant stone statues on Easter Island acquired distinctive red hats.

The researchers said the key to the mystery lies in their discovery of a road on the tiny Pacific island.

The hats were built in a quarry hidden inside the crater of an ancient volcano, and then rolled by hand or on tree logs to the site of the statues, said the team from the University of Manchester and University College, London.

UPDATE: August 14, 2009

See MEIER BENEATH GREAT PYRAMID...IN 1953!

Cave complex may lie beneath Giza Pyramids

British explorer claims to have found the lost underworld of the pharaohs

By Rossella Lorenzi

updated 8:37 a.m. PT, Fri., Aug 14, 2009

An enormous system of caves, chambers and tunnels lies hidden beneath the Pyramids of Giza, according to a British explorer who claims to have found the lost underworld of the pharaohs.

UPDATE: August 3, 2009

See: FINANCES, FUEL, FOOD AND VOLCANOES! for information given to Meier about the true state of the oil reserves, in August 2008. And then, for recent corroboration, see:

Warning: Oil supplies are running out fast

Catastrophic shortfalls threaten economic recovery, says world's top energy economist

By Steve Connor, Science Editor

Monday, 3 August 2009

The world is heading for a catastrophic energy crunch that could cripple a global economic recovery because most of the major oil fields in the world have passed their peak production, a leading energy economist has warned.

Higher oil prices brought on by a rapid increase in demand and a stagnation, or even decline, in supply could blow any recovery off course, said Dr Fatih Birol, the chief economist at the respected International Energy Agency (IEA) in Paris, which is charged with the task of assessing future energy supplies by OECD countries.

UPDATE: July 28, 2009

Meier was told, as far back as 1976, that the earth produces petroleum/oil in a slow, ongoing, natural process that is quite different than what our scientists have long assumed. It was also recently made clear to him that the existing oil reserves have been effectively depleted. Now, decades later, while oil companies and various countries may dispute it, scientists are beginning to note the possibility that the earth does indeed produce oil in the way that Semjase explained it to Meier:

CORROBORATED:

Hydrocarbons in the deep Earth?

"The oil and gas that fuels our homes and cars started out as living organisms that died, were compressed, and heated under heavy layers of sediments in the Earth's crust. Scientists have debated for years whether some of these hydrocarbons could also have been created deeper in the Earth and formed without organic matter. Now for the first time, scientists have found that ethane and heavier hydrocarbons can be synthesized under the pressure-temperature conditions of the upper mantle —the layer of Earth under the crust and on top of the core. The research was conducted by scientists at the Carnegie Institution's Geophysical Laboratory, with colleagues from Russia and Sweden, and is published in the July 26, advanced on-line issue of Nature Geoscience..."

Sustainable oil?

"...Creating that much oil would take a big pile of dead dinosaurs and fermenting prehistoric plants. Could there be another source for crude oil?"

An intriguing theory now permeating oil company research staffs suggests that crude oil may actually be a natural inorganic product, not a stepchild of unfathomable time and organic degradation. The theory suggests there may be huge, yet-to-be-discovered reserves of oil at depths that dwarf current world estimates..."

UPDATE: July 19, 2009

In light of the recent discovery of "newly restored copies" of the so-called Moon Landing tapes, it seems like the perfect time to contemplate what Meier was told during the 357th Contact, Monday, April 26th, 2004:

"...In addition to that, I am able to recall that earlier, once the talk was that NASA, subsequently, under certain circumstances, after the alleged first conjured up Moon race landing on July 20th, 1969, carried out manned or unmanned Moon landings, whereby all objects and so forth were then set out on the Moon which were supposed to have been left behind by the alleged first landing on the Moon.

The reason for that was supposed to have been, as I remember it, that it could later be "proven" that the first Moon landing, and also further ones, was actually supposed to have come about on July 20th, 1969.

You have further explained that the Moon landing lie will also be vehemently contested in the new millennium and everything will be undertaken to create "proof" and indeed again in the form that new fraudulent pictures are to be manufactured, in which allegedly, the first Moon landing's "left-behind" objects and so forth, will be able to be "sighted" on the Moon through a new telescope and will be broadcast worldwide through television as a new fraud.

The whole thing can eventually actually come about through a new type of telescope, always with the prerequisite that real materials were set out on the Moon, yet it could also be that then everything is only a studio set-up, as with the alleged first Moon landing..."

Of course, Meier is far from a Johnny-come-lately regarding this matter, as he first commenced on it in 1958, then again in 1985 and also in 1989.

UPDATE: March 7, 2010

Contact Report 204, Sunday, December 22, 1985

Obesity as a purely genetically conditioned & can be influenced by our thoughts (2nd part still not found by mainstream science but by a few others like Bruce Lipton)

CORROBORATED:

Fat Gene Found 2006

"After a decade of often overblown stories about one would-be 'fat gene' after another, scientists seem to have at last found the gene in question....researchers based in the U.S. and Germany pinned down what may be the first gene that is commonly connected with obesity in humans."

Contact Report 208, Tuesday, April 8, 1986

"...greater the amount of serotonin is in the brain of the person, the less aggressive person would be.."

CORROBORATED:

September 2008 Serotonin Keeps Aggression in Check

"Now, researchers at Cambridge University and UCLA have found that serotonin also plays a critical role in regulating emotions such as impulsive aggression during social decision making."

NOTE: This contact also dealt with the discoveries that were predicted to occur around the new millennium when the human DNA would be decoded:

"However, the coming time will very quickly bring more successes in this connection, whereby it will probably be around the turn of the millennium that the entire Earth-human DNA will be decoded."

Contact Report 212, Thursday, November 6, 1986

Quetzal: ....Americans, in their great pride, are encountered by aircraft that are reutilized as destructive and thousand-fold deadly weapons.

Billy: You mean, what will happen with respect to the WTC, as you told me in confidence, an event that will arrive in about 15 years; do you mean that?

Quetzal: That is correct. About that, you should release no information.

And also much other interesting information, such as:

Quetzal: ...Earth's core, thus the center of the Earth, is not simply a solid mass, as is erroneously supposed by the earthly scientists; rather, it is a core that is similar to what the Sun is in its entirety...

Billy: So it's a bubbling, nuclear furnace.

Not yet accepted by mainstream science some scientists are now backing up this theory and waiting for funding:

"Scientific maverick's theory on Earth's core "

"According to traditional theory, the core of Earth consists largely of iron. The San Diego scientist J. Marvin Herndon has added a new wrinkle by arguing that a large deposit of uranium also exists in the core, where it powers a natural nuclear reactor or georeactor."

J. Marvin Herndon

<http://www.nuclearplanet.com/Herndon%27s%20Nuclear%20Georeactor.html>

Regarding the Swine Flu pandemic:

"That which is done by the pharmaceutical companies in regard to today's epidemic, respectively, swine flu, is enormous profiteering because anti-flu remedies are, worldwide, sold by them - through the governments, health organisations and private persons, as well as through the black market - for amounts in the billions.

With these remedies - primarily Tamiflu, but others as well - a gigantic business is made and safety is promised, however this is only based on angst and panic-mongering.

This criminal business idea is based on the evil, angst-producing scenarios which - one does not believe it - are constantly publicised by the WHO, respectively, the World Health Organisation and by health officials and self-styled experts."

"Drug firms 'drove swine flu pandemic warning to recoup £billions spent on research"

January 27, 2010, Daily Mail (One of the UK's largest-circulation newspapers)

"Drug companies manipulated the World Health Organisation into downgrading its definition of a pandemic so they could cash in on a swine flu outbreak, it is claimed. An inquiry heard yesterday that the WHO allegedly softened its criteria for declaring a H1N1 flu pandemic last spring - just weeks before announcing there was a worldwide outbreak."

Contact 218: 30th May 1987

Billy and Quetzal talks about the antibiotic quality of body sweat which protects against eczema, fungus, inflammations and infection.

CORROBORATED:

October 2000.

"Sweating appears to be an essential part of the body's defence against bacteria, researchers have discovered.

The skin is known to release antimicrobial chemicals when wounded. Now Birgit Schittek and her team at the University of Tübingen in Germany have discovered that even intact skin exudes a small antibiotic protein called dermcidin in sweat. "This is the first antimicrobial compound in sweat ever to be described," Schittek says."

Also: <http://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pmc/articles/PMC90163/>

Contact Report 218, Saturday, May 30th, 1987

Billy : But there are, among many other very interesting things, also the "black chimneys" [a.k.a. "black smokers"], of which Quetzal had once spoken, and he said that they are the essential origin of the later forms of life on the Earth, in water, air and land, along with inclusions from outer space through comets, meteors and asteroids. In these "black chimneys" from which pitch black swathes - which are impregnated with sulphur and various materials - rise up, emerged early branches of bacteria which, as they rose out of the chimneys, were released and began the evolutionary work of life. But that, says Quetzal, is all still unknown to the terrestrial scientists. What is still interesting with this observation of the "black chimneys" is the fact that in their nearer and further surroundings, swarms of enormous numbers of large and snow-white creatures, which I simply designate as giant or oversized scampi [a.k.a. shrimp/prawns], bustle about on the sulphurous rocks or on the other steep rocks.

CORROBORATED:

New Research Rejects 80-Year Theory of 'Primordial Soup' as the Origin of Life

"For 80 years it has been accepted that early life began in a 'primordial soup' of organic molecules before evolving out of the oceans millions of years later. Today the 'soup' theory has been over turned in a pioneering paper in BioEssays which claims it was the Earth's chemical energy, from hydrothermal vents on the ocean floor, which kick-started early life..."

215th Contact, February 28, 1987

Billy: Can you tell me, as a doctor and medical scientist, how the preferences for flavors and, thus, for certain foods and drinks basically develop in humans?

Quetzal: The flavor preference of humans for certain foods and drinks develops, in principle, in the womb of the mother during pregnancy, which means that what the mother eats and drinks is decisive, and in particular, sweet and good, spicy food and drinks are of special importance.

However, if there is an excess of certain flavors, which are received via the food or the drinks of the mother and passed on to the growing child in her womb, then an aversion to these particular flavors may very well arise, as this can also be the case if the mother does not take in certain flavors of food during pregnancy and the child is first confronted with such substances after birth.

Billy: Then in some circumstances, growing children can become addicted, for example, to alcohol, medicines, or drugs, already in the womb during pregnancy?

Quetzal: That is correct.

CORROBORATED:

December 2007

Baby's food choices depend on mother's diet

"One's preference for food begins in the womb..... continued after birth as taste and smell is also transferred to the infant through the mother's milk, new research has shown..."

Contact Report 214, Tuesday, February 3rd, 1987

Billy: As a doctor and physician, etc., you can surely explain to me how fatigue arises, right?

Quetzal: In the nerve cells, the resting substance, adenosine, is formed, through which listlessness and fatigue arise.

Billy: And – can this actually be counteracted with coffee and tea?

Quetzal: The waking amine, caffeine, of coffee and the theine of tea can actually counteract the adenosine. If substances such as caffeine or theine, etc. are fed to the body while it is lethargic, tired, and in need of recuperation, then these will produce a counter-effect with respect to the adenosine, namely by suppressing or neutralizing this, whereby the maximum effect of the caffeine and theine or other similar waking amines will be achieved, but only about 1 1/2 hours after their consumption.

CORROBORATED:

March 2005

Why Coffee Works

"Coffee gets many of us through the day. But scientists have only recently figured out why we start to feel tired as the day goes on, and why a coffee break gives us a boost. This ScienCentral News video has more."

Contact Report 214, Tuesday, February 3rd, 1987

Billy: on the 21st of August, 1986, over 1,700 people died, in addition to a lot of beasts, wild animals, and birds, when in the Central African Cameroon, a poisonous gas cloud spread itself out. Do you know something more about this?

Quetzal: ....poisonous gas cloud escaped out of a volcanic crater lake.....the danger for the future wasn't banished because by the turn of the millennium, an enormous deposit of carbon dioxide will once again accumulate under the lake, which will then be twice as large as the one in the explosion within the last year.

CORROBORATED:

February, 2001

Cameroon's 'killer lake' degassed

"...According to some reports, the lake now contains twice as much carbon dioxide as was released during the explosion....."

215th Contact, February 28, 1987

Billy: Aha. And since we're already talking about down there: what was up with Sodom and Gomorrah; what actually happened there ? how were these two cities destroyed?

Quetzal: Several factors are to be mentioned: On the one hand, a meteorite fell to the Earth and exploded high over the area of the two cities... this led to devastating destructions of both cities, triggering a massive earthquake, by which the earth was torn open, like in Petra, and by underground volcanic activity, small and larger chunks of sulfur were flung high and across the country, which also naturally caused much disaster, and by this, as also by the exploding meteorite, many people were killed.

The remaining part of the total destruction was caused by the megalomaniac and crazy God of the Hebrews, an extraterrestrial who had his headquarters deep under the pyramid of Giza.

CORROBORATED:

August, 2001

Scientists uncover Sodom's fiery end

"...ground next to the Dead Sea is very unstable, lying on the joint between two of the Earth's tectonic plates which are moving in opposite directions. The area is vulnerable to earthquakes. Geological and archaeological evidence suggest that a huge one took place about four and a half thousand years ago - the time of the Biblical destruction.....But more conclusive evidence is still needed."

215th Contact, February 28, 1987

Quetzal : From the more distant descendants of all these human forms, who appeared in various places on the Earth, such as in Africa, Australia, Japan, China, America, South America and in Europe, etc., as you now call these areas, there were already early accumulations of dwellings, settlements, as you say, in which whole kinships gathered together.

Such sites are known to us on Earth, and they exhibit an age of 736,000 and of 811,000, 970,000 and 1,200,000 years.

CORROBORATED:

Chinese challenge to 'out of Africa' theory

"The discovery of an early human fossil in southern China may challenge the commonly held idea that modern humans originated out of Africa."

Contact Report 214, Tuesday, February 3rd, 1987

Quetzal : ..a particular Christian sect will spread itself worldwide, which has existed since 1955, tracing back to the insurance broker Arthur DeMoss, who demanded that after his death, his big dollar fortune should be used for sectarian, respectively divine, purposes...DeMoss Foundation traces back to him, and around the turn of the millennium, this will be responsible for the fact that prominent people, such as politicians, sports heroes, and actors, etc. will make use of sectarian propaganda in public media, like in television and so on, in order to find new believers for sectarianism and the Christian religion.

CORROBORATED:

Aug 1999 , January 2002

U.S.-Style Evangelical Drive Rouses Germany

"...Celebrities like the German golfer Bernhard Langer, the Bayern Munich soccer star Paulo Sergio and the ageless British pop singer Cliff Richard are promoting the campaign on billboards...."

Who Are Those Guys?

"..TV spots featured celebrities such as Yankee pitcher Andy Pettitte and former Miss America Heather Whitestone McCallum testifying that their most important relationship was with God and praising a book called Power for Living. The ads ran about 50 times a day...last March the DeMoss Foundation spent more than $27.8 million--a sum outpacing the media buy of a presidential campaign.."

Contact Report 214, Tuesday, February 3rd, 1987

Quetzal : Mature fruits and berries store and reflect solar radiation, and when these are ripe, they emit light in the ultraviolet range, even when the Sun isn't shining. This shortwave light is perceived by the birds, as well as by certain animals and insects, and it is the signal that the fruits or berries are ripe for digestion. This equally applies to the edibility of fruits and berries, grasses and leaves, etc., which emit a certain radiation that is perceived by the organisms and that informs them that the food which is important for them is nontoxic.

CORROBORATED:

October 2001

Go for the glow

"BIRDS may choose ripe fruits because of the ultraviolet light they reflect, rather than being enticed by a particular colour, according to a new theory"

Contact Report 214, Tuesday, February 3rd, 1987

Quetzal: ...end of the first and at the beginning of the second year of the new millennium, an asteroid the size of a few hundred meters, which will still be unknown to the earthly scientists until then, will cross Earth's orbit at a distance of a little more than half a million kilometers away (>500,000 Kms)

CORROBORATED:

January, 2002

Earth escapes brush with killer asteroid

"...range might seem like enough to breath easy, about 600,000 km, but many scientists classify it as a relatively close call."

Contact Report 214, Tuesday, February 3rd, 1987

Quetzal: During the period leading up to the turn of the millennium, a number of such objects will arrive in the near vicinity of Earth, but without endangering the Earth directly, even if, at the same time, the distance mark of such an asteroid falls below the 200,000-kilometer mark from the Earth, and thus, the object passes closer to the Earth than the Moon [384,403 kms].

CORROBORATED:

1991 BA

"..discovered by Spacewatch on January 18, 1991 and passed within 160,000 km of Earth. This is a little less than half the distance to the Moon...at the time of its discovery, the smallest and closest confirmed asteroid outside of Earths atmosphere "

Contact Report 214, Tuesday, February 3rd, 1987

Billy: ...asteroid Eros, which I was allowed to view during the great journey(1975),..thousands of large boulders that are scattered about and that are covered in many places by "blue dust or other blue material", ... largest crater, as Ptaah said, is about 7,500 meters wide, if I remember correctly..... Eros still has a size of about 35 kilometers...

Quetzal: ...possibility that Eros could fall to the Earth in the foreseeable future is less than 3 %.

CORROBORATED:

September, 2001

Asteroid's mystery 'blue ponds'

".... scientists have observed "ponds" of bluish dust..... Eros has a 5% chance of colliding with the Earth...."

See also: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/433\_Eros

Contact Report 213, Tuesday, December 2, 1986

Quetzal: I've also held a future viewing, from which it has arisen that next year, so in 1987, Rajneesh will return to Puna in India, where he already worked before. ..starting in 1989, he will let himself be revered as "Osho"...in 1989, the "Osho movement" will arise from this, the so-called "Osho Commune International".....on the 19th of January, 1990, he will depart from this life in Puna...So in 1995, there will already be more than 200,000 sect followers worldwide...Rajneesh's teachings, which will consist of about 600 written discourses.

CORROBORATED:

Osho Bagwhan Shree Rajneesh

"....taking the name Osho in 1989...causing Osho to travel the world before returning to Pune, where he died in 1990...."

Contact Report 213, Tuesday, December 2, 1986

Billy: As a doctor, what do you know about breast cancer, what causes this?

Quetzal: As a rule, this suffering is of a gene-contingent nature.

Billy: And what gene is responsible for it?

Quetzal: I may not explain that officially but may only tell you in confidence. What gene it concerns, the terrestrial scientists and researchers have to find out themselves, for our directives prohibit direct explanatory interference in foreign cultures and civilizations, in terms of progress, etc.

CORROBORATED:*"Breast cancer gene discovery 'most important for 20 years" - 05 Oct 2009*Contact Report 213, Tuesday, December 2, 1986

Quetzal: "It will be in the years after 1995, when Switzerland will be confronted with old events of World War II, which will then also carry into the third millennium. A security guard by the name of Christoph Meili will find old data papers in a bank, which will be destined for the shredder and which will show account details of the Jewish people from the last World War. The security guard will steal these papers...will flee to America....Swiss government and banks...will be attacked several times for financial reasons of lawyers, especially by a lawyer Fagan of American origin, who will be out for money and fame"

CORROBORATED:*Christoph Meili*Contact Report 213, Tuesday, December 2, 1986

"...in the coming war zones in the Balkans, when murder and destruction will rule in Kosovo and in virtually the whole area of Yugoslavia, released and ordered by the criminal Serbian politician, Slobodan Milošević, who will bear the name Death Dictator in certain circles and who will bring endless death and suffering over all of Yugoslavia, but especially in Kosovo. But for this, he will be called to account around the turn of the millennium by the so-called International Court of Justice."

CORROBORATED:*"Milosevic arrested " - 1 April, 2001*Contact Report 213, Tuesday, December 2, 1986

"....Indian guru Sri Sri Ravi Shankar... Art of Living...The country is India, of course; however, up to the turn of the millennium, about 140 countries around the world must come to terms with the fact that they are overflowed with more than 1.5 million sect followers..."

CORROBORATED:

Sri Sri Ravi Shankar

"Present in over 140 countries, it formulates, and implements lasting solutions to conflicts, and issues faced by individuals, communities and nations.." (now over 151 countries)

Contact Report 206, Friday, March 7, 1986

"It will be very bad with the Swiss national pride, namely in the year 2001, when the Swissair will be entered by irresponsible managers and administrators...."

CORROBORATED:

2001

A nation in shock: Swissair crisis

"For years, Switzerland has prided itself on having one of the most prestigious airlines in the world. But the humiliating demise of Swissair has left the nation stunned."

· MEIER: Unexpected Plejaren information regarding the actual dangers of smoking, the connection of radiation to lung cancer and the dangers of...vegetarianism:

Billy:

Then that's right. I still have another question, but which doesn't refer to these matters but to smoking: As Semjase once told me, but so did you, smoking is much less harmful than what the anti-smoking organizations, etc. have always claimed. But Semjase explained to me very specifically that these anti-smoking campaigns were not steered because of smoking and to be against it but, rather, to cover up something far worse. About that, I would gladly like to learn something more from you if you can give me information. For my part, I only know from Semjase that scientists and even certain governments are behind this campaign against smoking because they want to cover up their criminal activities through this, so namely the atmosphere and landscape contaminations with various poisons and the like. But mainly, as Semjase said, the most diverse contaminations produce the largest percentage of all those cases of disease that are well-known as cancer and that are attributed to smoking pleasure. Thus, the criminal contamination of the atmosphere and of the food, etc. is concealed by this, while these diseases among humanity are simply ascribed just to smoking. But everything is to blame for this great contamination which has contaminated food and which has produced, deposited, or allowed to escape all sorts of substances, even if only in tiny amounts, such as radioactive wastes, respectively – outfalls in hospitals or nuclear power plants, etc. At the same time, the escaped radioactive radiation is kept in the air and whirled around, as it is also stored in all existing matter. Therefore, if a person or an otherwise living organism inhales such air, then he automatically arrives into the deadly .. of the radioactive radiation, which also has an incredibly strong carcinogenic effect. And like the cancer in the people of Earth since the first atomic bomb explosion occurred on the Earth, it will become clear to everyone what reasons actually lie behind these things. It isn't that cancer was already on the rise before, but it only came about since humans and all earthly life forms began to eat contaminated food that was contaminated with live agents and hazardous substances and since the time that they began to breathe radioactive air.

Quetzal:

52. That is correct, both your words about the issues surrounding food, nuclear use, radioactivity, as well as the fact that criminal activities are pursued in order to make smoking pleasure responsible for this scourge cancer of humanity through the use of wrong propaganda.

53. Smoking pleasure is truly only to blame for this epidemic to a lesser extent, and such has been the case for a long time because the actual damages of smoking are of a different nature, such as in the area of nerve destruction of the respiratory organs, etc., as well as with the impairment of blood circulation through deposits in the bloodstream, etc.

54. But all these features of smoking pleasure are still seen as relatively less than the damages of the body and organs of the person and of his necessary physical development, etc. through widespread vegetarianism, as well as through the criminal pollutions and contaminations of food and of vitally important substances of all kinds and of the air, but also through the released radioactivity.

Billy:

Then vegetarianism is likely more harmful to the person than an average amount of smoking?

Quetzal:

55. That is very significantly correct, but this shouldn't suggest that this is an animating means for smoking pleasure.

56. Smoking is harmful in every case, but often less harmful than other wrong actions and lifestyles...

- Additionally, while I was in Switzerland, in May 2009, five people all observed Meier interact with a UFO. Specifically, on command he caused the object to immediately extinguish its very bright exterior light and become invisible.

- I also learned that the Plejaren had discovered and gained entry into another universe (not the Dal) and had also discovered a race of human beings there whose lineage was related to the prophet Henok (Enoch) of long, long ago. Of course, it will be a very, very long time before this kind of information will ever be shown to be accurate or not.

Contact Report 248, Thursday, February 3, 1994

Billy: Then the next question: what insights and experiences do you have, as a doctor, in reference to the fact that the vice of smoking among females should produce a vaginal discharge?

Ptaah: That also corresponds to our insights and experiences. Females who indulge in the vice of smoking aren't just endangered in the genital area ñ as this is how men are affected by it, yet in a more cancerous form, whereby the prostate and vas deferens and testes can be affected.

With females, the dangers of inflammations of the fallopian tubes and ovaries and of fallopian tube and ovarian cancer are promoted by smoking. Also, itchiness and eczema in the genital area frequently trace back to smoking, as well as infertility, which can particularly occur in girls and in young women, but from which the men also aren't excluded, who can likewise succumb to infertility by smoking.

CORROBORATED:

July 2001

Smoking can trigger infertility

"Infertility can be triggered by toxic chemicals found in exhaust fumes and cigarette smoke...."

Cigarette smoking may raise prostate cancer risk - April 2010

"Cigarette smoking may increase a man's risk for developing and dying from prostate cancer, pooled data from 24 studies involving 21,600 men with the disease indicates..."

Contact Report 248, Thursday, February 3, 1994

Billy: ...can you tell me when, approximately, the first flowers bloomed on Earth?

Ptaah: I don't know that exactly, but it should have been about 450 million years ago.

Billy: Can one, perhaps, still find any fossils of these?

Ptaah: The oldest fossils of flowers discovered by us on the Earth are 308 million years old.

CORROBORATED:

March 2010

Flowering Plants May Be Considerably Older Than Previously Thought

"Previous studies suggest that flowering plants, or angiosperms, first arose 140 to 190 million years ago. Now, a paper to be published in the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences pushes back the age of angiosperms to 215 million years ago, some 25 to 75 million years earlier than either the fossil record or previous molecular studies suggest...."

Contact Report 248, Thursday, February 3, 1994

Ptaah: Great medical knowledge is also necessary because hair represents an extremely sensitive factor of energy exchange and health. On Earth, the usual means of hair dyeing are extremely health-hazardous, and they even destroy the hair in the course of time. All terrestrial means of hair dyeing, on the one hand, tend to produce different types of cancer, with lymphoma being the principle form, and on the other hand, they destroy the receptiveness and conductivity for the cosmic electromagnetic energies.

CORROBORATED:

March 2008

Hair dye may raise cancer risk for coiffeurs

"The latest Working Group report by the International Agency for Research on Cancer (IARC) concludes that there is enough evidence to suggest that hairdressers and barbers are "probably" at greater risk from bladder cancer because of their exposure to hair dye."

June 2008

Hair dye may boost lymphoma risk: study

"A new study suggests that use of hair dye may increase the risk of certain types of non-Hodgkin lymphoma (NHL), a blood cancer involving the lymph nodes....Future studies, they note, "are needed to examine the risk of NHL by time period of hair-dye use and by genetic susceptibility."

Contact Report 248, Thursday, February 3, 1994

Billy: ....Then another question: do you know something about amalgam?

Ptaah: Certainly. It is a mercury filling, which finds use in the terrestrial dental technology as a dental filling. By the way, this is a very dangerous product that should not be used in this way because it may cause severe injury to health, such as blurred vision, headaches, memory impairment, hearing impairment, cancer, instability of the psyche, from which also severe mood swings arise, and so on.

Just the vapors arising during the introduction of the filling are dangerous, as well as the subsequent discharge of mercury from the fillings. Especially vulnerable are pregnant women, who receive amalgam treatment during their pregnancy, because the mercury and its vapors, etc. are transferred to the fruit of the womb and burden this, whereby various diseases as well as injury to the body, the organs, or the consciousness can also appear.

The effects of the mercury discharges in the human organism and body can vary according to the constitution of the person, both in the strength of the effect as well as in the time of the initial appearance of the effects that, in many cases, first manifest themselves maliciously with the aging of the person, without a doctor still being able, then, to investigate the origin of the suffering.

So often, many people don't notice for a long time that they have been poisoned by mercury discharges into the organism, just to become suddenly sick, then, with a multitude of ailments, for which the doctor can find no explanation.

CORROBORATED:

June 2008

FDA: Possible Risk From Dental Fillings

"To Settle Lawsuit, FDA Now Says Mercury From Fillings Might Pose Risk to Some....Mercury from amalgam dental fillings may be toxic to children and developing fetuses, the FDA now admits."

Contact Report 214, Tuesday, February 3rd, 1987

Billy: Recently, I was asked for the reason why the so-called Franklin Expedition had failed and why all the participants had died? It was a pole expedition.

Quetzal: ...Without exception, the participants of the expedition died as a result of lead poisoning, which was brought about by canned food, for the cans contained high concentrations of lead that poisoned the contents, which were then eaten by the people, by what means they fatally poisoned themselves. And those, who did not die directly from lead poisoning, miserably perished by freezing to death.

CORROBORATED:

December 2009

Soup can reopens mystery of doomed Franklin Expedition

"Lead levels that are "off the scale" have been confirmed after tests were done this morning on the lid of a soup can dating back more than 150 years. The findings reopen the mystery surrounding the cause of death of Sir John Franklin and his doomed crew as they searched for the Northwest Passage."

260th Contact Tuesday, February 3, 1998, 10:27 PM

Billy:

That should be fine for me because I've actually had such deep thoughts about everything and, thus, have also connected the various terms with certain effects and existences, which I can now pursue further, since I know that my acceptances correspond to reality. Here, however, I have to ask something else: solariums: a lot of advertising is constantly made about the solarium business, and it is maintained that the use of solariums is healthy and harmless. You and Quetzal, however, once said something else. What must one now actually think of solariums or of letting oneself be irradiated?

Ptaah:

255. The assertion that the use of solariums and letting oneself be irradiated are healthy and safe is not only wrong but also life-threatening, even if this seems implausible to the Earth people on the first impression.

256. Solariums produce increased UV-A rays that, on the one hand, make one addicted and, therefore, dependent and, on the other hand, penetrate deep into the skin and into the body, making this and the organs damaged from within with a lasting effect and causing internal tumors, etc., such as, above all, cancer.

257. However, the likewise active UV-B rays, as these are also released by the Sun's rays, work in another way and are limited in their effect to the outer layers of skin, on and in which they cause sunburn and skin cancer.

Billy:

But unfortunately, all this is not yet understood by the earthlings.

Ptaah:

258. At least a very large part of the Earth people is actually unconvinced in this respect, which is why very many must experience and get to know the effective evils of the solar radiation and solarium radiation on their own bodies and often pay for it with their own lives.

CORROBORATED:

Can you become addicted to tanning beds?

NEW YORK (Reuters Health) – If you're someone who lies in a tanning bed too much, you may be likely to suffer from addictive behavior often seen with substance abuse, as well as anxiety, according to a new study.

Catherine Mosher and Sharon Danoff-Burg, researchers at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center and the State University of New York, Albany, respectively, asked 229 students at a large northeastern university about alcohol and substance abuse behaviors; all of the students reported using indoor tanning facilities in the previous year.

Fifty of the study participants, or just under 22 percent, met the criteria for addiction on both of the two questionnaires. Those who met the criteria for addiction had in fact used tanning facilities more frequently in the previous year than those who weren't addicted...

No doubt' sunbeds cause cancer - July 2009

There is no doubt using a sunbed or sunlamp will raise the risk of skin cancer, say international experts. Previously, the International Agency for Research on Cancer (IARC) assessed sunbeds and sunlamps as "probably carcinogenic to humans". But it now says their use is definitively "carcinogenic to humans".

Contact Report 204, Sunday, December 22, 1985

Billy: Ah, then there is also a genetically conditioned obesity? As far as I know, our medical science knows nothing about that.

Quetzal: That is correct because this fact will first be recognized toward the end of this millennium, as well as other matters that are determined by the genes. Thus, for example, anxiety, sexual addiction, addiction to adrenalin rushes, addiction to extreme sports of every kind, addiction to the enthusiasm and fanaticism relating to the sporty or other achievements of other people, etc.

CORROBORATED:

Genetic link to anxiety - July, 2002

"Anxiety may in part be an inherited condition linked to a specific gene, researchers have suggested...They found people with a certain form of this gene were more prone to anxiety."

Being a sex addict is in your genes - May 2006

"Some people simply can't help being 'sex addicts', according to a new discovery by scientists.They have found that people with a certain genetic make-up have a much stronger sex drive than others."

Fearless Gene - January 2006

"Scientists have found a gene that may control whether or not someone is a risk taker...Why does one person like to skydive or ski off cliffs while someone else is happy reading a book? After studying mouse behavior, scientists now have a clue into a certain gene that may be a factor."

Sports Gene Found In Men - July 2007

"The new gene discovery may explain why many men are sports fanatics and why they forego many activities, such as shopping trips, lawn mowing and house repair, in favor of watching sports events on TV."

Contact Report 208, Tuesday, April 8, 1986

Billy: ...Can you, perhaps, mention again the three most important factors, through which fear can arise in its origin?

Quetzal: On the one hand, fear can be genetically conditioned, but on the other hand, it can also be caused by a wrong upbringing, as well as by ignorance and misconceptions.

Billy: So also by imagination and fantasy?

Quetzal: That is correct.

Billy: As Ptaah explained to me, fear - if it is not corrected and if it arises in the form of ignorance, misconceptions, imagination, and fantasy - may have effects on the genes and, consequently, program these over time, by what means fear then appears via the genes and becomes inheritable, as this is also the case with many other things, from which some degenerations and also evolutionary values can emerge..

CORROBORATED:

Fear Factor Gene Discovered - November 2005

"..Some people are so afraid of even the slightest danger that anxiety overwhelms them...With the discovery of a fear factor gene, announced today, scientists have moved a step closer to being able to moderate extreme reactions to fear and also soothe trauma victims."

Contact Report 66, Wednesday, November 10, 1976

Billy: ..Mercury is still another problem for me. Just 2 days ago, i remembered this again. When in last year (1975) we flew around this cluster, then you told me, it would still ,more contract itself. Why does this happen?

Semjase: The metal core of the planet has such a large specific mass, that the outer skin, that is, the outer stratum, contract constantly inwards, by which fact the outer spheres become extremely compact.

CORROBORATED:

Mercury: The incredible shrinking planet - July 2008

"The solar system's smallest planet has been shrinking at an unexpected rate...pictures of Mercury's surface taken with NASA's Messenger spacecraft "confirm" that the crust appears to have buckled. In fact, the planet seems to have shrunk more than previously thought - and may still be shrinking."

.....

With special thanks to Mahigitam for all of his incredible, diligent research that has resulted in finding so much of the corroboration for Meier's information.

Updated: April 16, 2010

Michael Horn

HOME